

regenHU

BIOSYSTEM ARCHITECTS

regenHU Ltd is an expert in tissue and organ printing technologies. The company provides instruments and solutions to drive biology into the third dimension and address the challenges of Drug Discovery and Regenerative Medicine.

Located between Fribourg and Lausanne, regenHU benefits from a working environment that promotes creativity and innovation. As member of CPA Group Ltd, its employees contribute to reaching a high level of performance and strong expertise in the industrial and high-tech fields. To learn more, please see our website www.regenHU.com

To support our growth, we are looking for a highly motivated

R&D Manager (F/M)

for our Instrumentation Business Unit at 100%

Your main responsibilities:

- Develop, organize and manage all R&D activities and projects
- Responsible for the overall development of new product and technology, from the requirements to the industrialisation phase
- Develop, supervise and manage the R&D team and promote the growth of technical skills in the team
- Qualify and manage strategic development partners
- Establish and manage the development plan and the budget
- Coordinate internal and external resources to achieve target in time and budget
- Challenge technical choices, ensure technical quality and fulfilment of requirements in the R&D projects
- Perform continuous technology monitoring.

Your profile:

- Bachelor or master in microtechnology, mechatronics or equivalent field
- Experience in biotechnology, tissue engineering or lab automation field
- At least 5 years' experience in a similar position
- Experience in product development and complex project management
- Team management
- Ability to deal with fast changing environments and to manage different projects at the same time
- Responsible, solution-oriented, flexible, self-confident and excellent interpersonal skills
- Fluent in English, French and/or German a plus.

Beginning: immediately or upon agreement

You are seeking a new challenge and willing to join a dynamic and high-tech company shaping the future of Healthcare? Apply now by sending your complete application file to the address below:

regenHU Ltd, Mrs Myriam Deillon, Human Resources, Z.I. du Vivier 22, 1690 Villaz-St-Pierre
myriam.deillon@regenHU.com